little benefit as a result. It became clear to researchers at the University of Arizona's lunar and planetary

I injured yet another part of my back. I have already had two surgeries, the last being '12. I understand

Work experience is not directly considered in the assessment process but is reflected in the applicant's ability to perform the competencies that are being evaluated.